My Journey in Media

Covering the White House - Journalism

10/18/17 • 12:00PM - 1:00PM

Library Atrium • Wellesley Hills campus

Lothian began at CNN in June 2003 covering a wide range of issues. However, he was a key member of CNN's Peabody award winning "best political team on television." He covered the 2002, 2008, 2012 presidential races traveling with more than a half dozen candidates. While covering the White House Lothian traveled with President Obama to more than 30 countries which included his historic visit to Myanmar and the controversial trip to Colombia. His accolades include National Headliner, Peabody, Associated Press, James Beard, Religion Newswriters Association and National Association of Black Journalists awards. Lothian also received two national Emmy nominations.
